Five designs, from the loosest control on the left to the strictest on the right. The two in the darker blue are the ones that remove shared material.